

The Town of Otis has just completed its flag design competition. The Town of Otis is among a few towns that do not have a town flag. The bicentennial committee chose the winner on February 9, 2009. The design winner was Karen Amanti of East Otis. In this design Karen incorporated all the aspects that represent Otis. Otis's recreation was show through camping, skiing, and boating. She also incorporated the terrain with the mountains, lakes and valleys. In the valley she shows the center of town including the church steeples. This design shows Otis in its full glory.

The bicentennial committee would like to thank all those who submitted entries in the competition. The designs were all very creative. The bicentennial committee is hoping to use some of the other flag designs for other projects the committee embarks on. The town will have a flag unveiling ceremony scheduled for June 13, 2009. This is exactly one year prior to the Town's 200th celebration.
